PREFERENCES: ELEMENTS AND ORDINARY COURSE OF BUSINESS AND NEW VALUE DEFENSES

Lowenstein Sandler

The Credit Research Foundation

PREFERENCES UNDER SECTION 547 OF THE BANKRUPTCY CODE

ELEMENTS OF A PREFERENCE

- Section 547 of the Bankruptcy Code allows a debtor-in-possession or trustee to recover certain payments made prior to the debtor's bankruptcy filing, if the following elements are proven:
  - (1) Any Transfer of an Interest of the Debtor in Property;
  - (2) To or for the Benefit of a Creditor;
  - (3) On Account of an Antecedent Debt Owed by the Debtor Before the Transfer:
    - Cash in advance payments not preferences

PREFERENCES UNDER SECTION 547 OF THE BANKRUPTCY CODE

ELEMENTS OF A PREFERENCE

(4) Made While the Debtor was Insolvent;

- On or within 90 days before a bankruptcy filing; or
- Between 90 days and one year before a bankruptcy filing for transfers made to insider creditors; and

(5) That Enables Such Creditor to Receive More Than Such Creditor Would Receive if:

- The case were a Chapter 7 case;
- The transfer had not been made; and
- Such creditor received payment to the extent provided by other provisions of the Bankruptcy Code.

Frequently Asserted Preference Defenses

Ordinary Course of Business Defense

- Transfer was in Payment of a Debt Incurred by the Debtor in the Ordinary Course of Business or Financial Affairs of the Debtor and the Creditor; and
- Subjective Test – Made in the Ordinary Course of Business or Financial Affairs of the Debtor and the Creditor; OR
- Objective Test – Made According to Ordinary Business Terms

Subsequent New Value Defense

- Creditor Extended Credit to Debtor After Payment, That was not Secured, and not Paid, by an Otherwise Unavoidable Transfer
- New Value Cannot be Applied to Subsequent Payments

RECENT BANKRUPTCY CODE AMENDMENTS AFFECTING PREFERENCE CLAIMS

The Credit Research Foundation

2019 Bankruptcy Code Amendment: SBRA

- Designed to Expedite, Reduce Costs, and Increase Exit Prospects
- Became Effective February 19, 2020
- Permitted any Business With Maximum Aggregate Debt of $2,725,625 to File Bankruptcy as a Small Business Chapter 11 Debtor
- The Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act ("CARES" Act) was Enacted on March 27, 2020 and Sunsets/Expires on March 27, 2021
  - The maximum aggregate debt limit to qualify as a small business (excluding affiliates and insiders) provided for under the SBRA was increased to $7,500,000, not less than 50 percent of which is required to arise from the commercial or business activities of the debtor

SBRA's Changes To Preference Law With The Goal of Avoiding Abusive Practices

- Bankruptcy Code §547(b) was Amended to add the Following Purported Due Diligence Requirement to be Undertaken Before Filing Preference Litigation:
  - "(b) Except as provided in subsections (c) and (i) of this section, the trustee may, based on reasonable due diligence in the circumstances of the case taking into account a party's known or reasonably knowable affirmative defenses under subsection (c), avoid any transfer of an interest of the debtor in property…."
  - Preference defendants still have the burden of proving preference defenses
  - It is unclear what is actually required to allege lack of diligence

Increased Venue Limits On Small Claims

- The Venue Provision That Forces a Trustee or Debtor-in-Possession to Commence Litigation on Smaller Claims in the District Court Where the Defendant Resides (Corporate Headquarters or Principle Place of Business) has Been Increased From $13,650 to $25,000
  - Impact: Trustees/debtors-in-possession may be less likely to commence suit on preference and other claims seeking recovery of less than $25,000
- Does the Increased Venue Limit Apply to Bankruptcy Cases Filed Before SBRA's Effective Date of February 19, 2020?
- Legislation Ignores Prior Conflicting Decisions Over Applicability of Venue Limit to Preference/Other Avoidance Actions

Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2021

- The “CAA” was passed on December 21, 2020 and was enacted on December 27, 2020
- The CAA is a $2.3 trillion spending bill comprised of $900 billion in COVID-related relief and a $1.4 trillion omnibus spending bill for fiscal year 2021
- Impact on preference claims: The CAA amended Section 547 of the Bankruptcy Code to create a new preference exception: “covered payment[s] of supplier arrearages”
- The amendment is intended to address risk of loss of ordinary course of business defense where creditor had extended the due date of payment of invoices due to the pandemic

"Covered Payment" Exception to Preference Liability
Temporary Subsection 547(j)

- Creates a New Preference Exception: "covered payment of supplier arrearages"
  - Payment made in connection with an agreement or arrangement made or entered into on and after March 13, 2020 (onset of COVID) between a debtor and a supplier of goods or services to delay or postpone payment of amounts due under an executory contract
  - Payment cannot exceed the amount due under the executory contract before March 13, 2020
  - Does not include fees, penalties and interest in an amount greater than that scheduled to be paid under the contract or which the debtor would owe if the debtor had made all payments on time and in full before March 13, 2020
- Exception for landlords, too: "Covered Payment of Rental Arrearages"
- Sunsets on December 27, 2022, but continues to apply to bankruptcy cases filed before December 27, 2022

"Covered Payment" Exception to Preference Liability

Raises More Questions Than Answers?

- Who has the burden of proof?
  - Trustee or creditor?
  - Section 547(b) vs. Section 547(c)?
- Only Deals With Payments under an Executory Contract
  - The "Countryman" definition - An executory contract is one under which both parties to the contract have unperformed obligations such that the failure of either party to continue or complete performance would constitute a material breach that excuses the other party from performance.

"Covered Payment" Exception to Preference Liability

Raises More Questions Than Answers?

- What is an Arrangement to Defer or Postpone Payments?
  - How does it differ from an agreement?
  - Is a creditor's unilateral decision to defer payment sufficient?
  - Must the creditor announce the deferral? Does it need to be in writing?
  - Best practice: document and execute forbearance agreement
- Can the Creditor Defer Payments While Requiring Payment of Late Charges, Interest, or Attorneys' Fees?
  - Best practice: avoid charging fees, interest, and charges
- Meaning of Requirement That a "Covered Payment" not Exceed the Amount due Under the Executory Contract Before March 13, 2020?

RECENT ISSUES IMPACTING PREFERENCE DEFENSES

Section 503(b)(9) “20 Day” Administrative Priority Claims

- Administrative Claim for the Value of the Goods the Debtor Received Within 20 Days of Bankruptcy Filing
- 20 Day Goods Must be Sold to the Debtor in the Ordinary Course of the Debtor’s Business
- Safety Net for Trade Creditors that Supply Goods Not Services!
- Replaces Reclamation as an Effective Value Maximizing Trade Creditor Remedy

Is Paid § 503(b)(9) Claim Eligible As New Value?

- Yes: In re Commissary Operations, Inc., U.S. Bankruptcy Court, Middle District of Tennessee
  - New value window closes on bankruptcy filing date (same analysis applied by 3rd Circuit court in In re Friedman's)
  - The new value defense is not impacted by post-petition payments of new value
  - Section 503(b)(9) claims are improperly impaired if excluded from the new value defense

Paid § 503(b)(9) Claim Is Not Eligible As New Value

- No: In re Circuit City Stores (U.S. Bankruptcy Court, Eastern District of Virginia) and In re TI Acquisition LLC (U.S. Bankruptcy Court, Northern District of Georgia)
- Paid § 503(b)(9) Priority Claim Does Not Satisfy Bankruptcy Code § 547(c)(4)'s Requirement That "the Debtor did not Make an Otherwise Unavoidable Transfer to or for the Benefit of Such Creditor" as a Post-Petition Payment was Received by the Creditor
- A Creditor is Double Dipping if it can use its Fully Paid/Funded § 503(b)(9) Claim as Part of its new Value Defense

Critical Vendor Payment Impact on New Value Preference Defense

- Debtors often obtain authority to pay prepetition claims of "critical vendors" on the premise that if the vendor refused to provide goods or services on credit post-petition, the debtors' business would be irreparably disrupted and, as a result, the Debtors' efforts to maximize value for their estates and creditors would be severely impaired.
- Does Critical Vendor Lose § 547(c)(4) new Value Defense As a Result of Debtor's Post-Petition Payment of Claim?
  - NO: U.S. Court of Appeals 3rd Circuit in In re Friedman's which counted new value paid post-petition pursuant to court order
    - New value is determined as of the bankruptcy filing date when claim was unpaid

Critical Vendor Payment Impact on New Value Preference Defense

- Other U.S. Circuit Courts of Appeal have not yet ruled on this issue
- Certain lower courts have disqualified new value paid post-petition
- Suggestion: Critical vendor order should either release preference claims against the vendor, or preserve the new value defense.
  - This protection might be hard to obtain unless the creditor has a lot of leverage, but is important now based on positions that debtors and post-confirmation entities have recently been taking.

Preference Claim as Basis for Objection to 503(b) Administrative Priority Claim

- Courts are Divided Over Whether a Trustee can Invoke Section 502(d) of the Bankruptcy Code to Assert a Preference Claim to Disallow an Administrative Priority Claim
  - Section 502(d) provides that "the court shall disallow any claim of any entity from which property is recoverable under [chapter 5 of the Bankruptcy Code . . . Unless such entity or transferee has paid the amount, or turned over any such property, for which such entity or transferee is liable under [chapter 5 of the Bankruptcy Code]."

Preference Claim as Basis for Objection to 503(b) Administrative Priority Claim

- Majority View – preference claim not grounds for disallowance of administrative claim
  - In re Ames Merchandising Corp., (2d. Cir. 2009)
  - In re CM Holdings, Inc., (Bankr. D. Del. 2000)
  - In re Lids Corp. (Bankr. D. Del. 2001)
- Minority View – preference claim is grounds for disallowance of administrative claim
  - In re Microage, Inc. (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2002)
- This issue may be litigated in connection with the Southern Food Group, LLC (d/b/a Dean Foods) chapter 11 cases pending in the Southern District of Texas bankruptcy court.

Preference Claim As Basis For Disallowance Of § 503(b)(9) Administrative Priority Claim (§ 502(d) Of the Bankruptcy Code)

- Courts are Divided Over Whether a Preference Claim (Complaint Filed or Otherwise Asserted) can be Invoked to Temporarily Disallow a § 503(b)(9) Priority Claim
- One View: Preference Claim not Grounds for Disallowance of § 503(b)(9) Priority Claim
  - In re Energy Conversion Devices, Inc. and Plastech Engineered Products, Inc. – U.S. Bankruptcy Court, Eastern District of Michigan
  - In re TI Acquisition LLC – U.S. Bankruptcy Court, Northern District of Georgia
  - In re Momenta, Inc. – U.S. Bankruptcy Court, New Hampshire
  - In re Plastech Enigneered Prods., Inc. (E.D. Mich. 2008)
- Contrary View: Debtor could assert preference claim as basis for temporarily disallowing § 503(b)(9) priority claim
  - In re Circuit City – U.S. Bankruptcy Court, Eastern District, Virginia

Critical Vendor Defense

- Critical vendors subject to preference risk have asserted the "critical vendor defense"
  - i.e., the plaintiff cannot prove section 547(b)(5) (one of the elements of a preference claim) that the alleged preferential transfer enabled the creditor to receive more than the creditor would have received in a hypothetical chapter 7 liquidation.
- This "critical vendor defense" has achieved mixed results:
  - AFA Inv. Inc. v. Trade Source, Inc., (Bankr. D. Del. 2015) - Delaware bankruptcy court upheld critical vendor defense where the debtor executed a letter agreement requiring the debtor to pay prepetition claim.
  - HLI Creditor Trust (D. Del. 2004); Zenith Idus. Corp. (D. Del. 2005); and Personal Communications Devices, LLC (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 2018).
- Recent decision of Delaware bankruptcy court, in Maxus Energy Corp. (Bankr. D. Del. 2020), rejected critical vendor defense, relying largely on HLI and Zenith.
