As vaccination rates rise, many employers are contemplating "return to office" plans for their employees. The COVID-19 pandemic has pushed employers and employees to adapt—through virtual meetings, remote work, the use of new and emerging technologies, non-traditional working hours and other solutions—to continue operating. While remote work has become a "new normal" in many industries and workplaces, some work cannot be done remotely, and employers are finding that some work that technically can be done remotely is...
